

The Initials Challenge

A fast, creative, and hilarious party game powered by a die that generates hundreds of initials combinations.

How to Play (Quick Guide)

Roll the die

Write initials

60 seconds

Share answers

1-Minute Timer

60

Start

Pause

Reset

Gameplay

- Roll the die to generate two initials
- Write them at the top of your paper
- You have 1 minute to write answers
- One answer per category
- Then read them aloud

Categories

Category 1: People's Names

Initials of a real person's name.

Category 2: General

Recognizable initials, abbreviations, or acronyms.

Important: See the guidelines below for what is allowed in each category.

Scoring

- 1 point → duplicate answer
- 2 points → unique answer

Example Round (with scoring)

Rolled initials: D.E.

Player 1:

-  Dwight Eisenhower
-  Abbreviation of Delaware

Player 2:

-  Dwight Eisenhower
-  Abbreviation of Germany (Deutschland)

Scoring:

- Dwight Eisenhower → duplicate → 1 point each
- Delaware → unique → 2 points (Player 1)
- Deutschland/Germany → unique → 2 points (Player 2)

Final score:

Player 1 = 3 points

Player 2 = 3 points

End of Game

First player to reach 20 points wins. In case of a tie, continue until one player wins.

Guidelines for Accepted Combinations

Category 1: People's Names

- Must be a real person
- Can be someone you know or a public figure
- Made-up names are not allowed
- Players should provide basic info or clues

Category 2: General

- Must be recognizable and used in real life

Examples:

- HP – Hewlett-Packard
- BR – Baskin-Robbins
- DC – District of Columbia
- CA – California
- AU – Australia (internet code)
- UK – United Kingdom
- OZ – ounce
- QB – quarterback
- AA – American Airlines
- MG – magnesium

Not allowed:

- GM for "good morning"
- MS for Microsoft
- SS for sunshine

If unsure, players may use Google or ChatGPT to verify.